Troop 5 Grubmaster's Guide

The role of the grubmaster is to plan the menu, shop for the food, and prepare the meals for your patrol on a Troop 5 camp-out. Reading or reviewing the Cooking section of the Boy Scout Handbook on pp 247 - 283 will help to guide you in successfully fulfilling this role. Pay attention to the food pyramid and ask questions as you plan.

"Cooks are not found wandering in the woods. Nor do Scouts fry an egg on the first try. Guide them, teach them, but don't do everything for them."

Ed Bailey, Denver Area Council, Centennial District

Keys to Success & Good Nutrition!

- PLAN the MENUE for the entire camp-out first!
- SHOPPING LIST; Make a list before you shop
- BUDGET! Remember, you're on a budget, Usually that means $10.00 per person (including you).
- RECEIPTS; Save & turn them in to the Troop 5 Treasurer and you will be reimbursed. Account for or clarify if you only use a part of something. (Separate other purchases so receipts show only those items purchased for the Troop.)
- ORGANIZE! Re-packaging, counting, pre-measuring, writing directions, will help to keep you on track.
- EQUIPMENT. A cook needs to know his kitchen. Pots & pans, knives & serving spoons, towel...
- BULK FOOD, like oatmeal, are less expensive and more nutritious than instant. For less than $1.00 you can buy enough bulk oatmeal to feed your patrol, (1/2 C. per person) No Instant Oatmeal on Troop campouts.
- PROHIBITED ITEMS Hamburgers, hot dogs, "Junk food" and candy are NOT allowed.
- "INSTANT" is usually not a BSA word. Being a grubmaster means learning food preparation skills beyond opening a jar or mixing in water. With creativity, careful planning and a little practice, you'll soon be the award winning grubmaster for your patrol!

- BACKPACK CAMPING/COOKING; Lightweight with NO REFRIGERATION. Coolers are not available on these events. Meals are cooked over backpack stoves, or wood fires. Good nutrition and careful planning are really important here.
